Natural stone such as marble and travertine are products of nature. Variations in colour, tone, shading, texture, veining and patterns are inherent and unique to each piece, and are not considered defects. Pitting, fissures and chips are natural characteristics of stone and should be expected.

Before installation, all boxes must be mixed to achieve a natural, consistent blend.

All natural stone products should be sealed with a sealer prior to grouting to prevent the grout from staining the stone. It is further recommended that these stones be resealed every 12months as part of normal maintenance.
